CITY AND DISTRICT.

Sunday School's Special Program.

Yesterday was a day for special rejoicing with the Sunday school of St. Mark's Lutheran Church. The Easter festival was held in the evening, and an excellent program was rendered. The infant department, under the leadership of Miss Maud Stinson, and the classes of Miss Edith Swenney and Miss Daisy Fridley, were participants, acquitting themselves with credit. Miss Mary Ward recited "The Legend of the Easter Egg," and the pastor of the church, Rev. J. C. Hovener, gave a few illustrations of the significance of the work and words of the school to him.

ANTI-NORRIS CONFERENCE.

CONTESTING DELEGATION TO KANSAS CITY WILL BE CHOSEN.

New Central Committee Will Also Be Organized—Probable Members of Convention.

Six delegates and six alternates will be chosen tonight by the convention of anti-Norris democrats at Grand Army Hall to go to the national convention at Kansas City July 4 and fight for admission thereto against the sextet of delegates and alternates chosen by the convention held at the Academy of Music last Thursday. The anti-Norris faction claims that the latter gathering was anything but regular, because, it declares, the delegates composing it were elected by fraudulent methods in nineteen out of the twenty-two local election districts, and expresses confidence in being able to substantiate these charges at Kansas City.

Names of Probable Delegates.

The convention tonight will be called to order at 7:30 o'clock by Capt. J. A. Collins, chairman of the anti-Norris executive committee, and so far as can be ascertained, will be composed of the following, who were candidates upon the anti-Norris tickets at the recent primaries:

- First—John Sullivan, Chris Hager, John Crowley.
- Second—J. P. Sullivan, William F. Holmead.
- Third—John Sullivan, Chris Hager, John Crowley.
- Fourth—John R. Mason, George Gosnell, George T. Hilton.
- Fifth—James H. Cleary, Bealor S. Feeney, William O'Brien.
- Sixth—William H. C. Bayly, S. Percy Thompson, Charles Rupprecht.
- Seventh—Dr. W. L. Lockett, Dr. D. G. Lewis, Z. M. P. King.
- Eighth—A. B. Schlatterbeck, William A. Vaughn, A. DeFord.

NEXT BISCHOFF CONCERT.

The next Bischoff concert will take place Tuesday evening, April 24, at the First Congregational Church. This will be the first concert this season, and Dr. Bischoff has prepared a program of unusual interest. The chief feature will be the singing of Barnett's cantata, "The Ancient Mariner," and there will also be some miscellaneous numbers, including a new cantata, "The Song of the Sea," by the composer, Dr. Bischoff.

LECTURE ON OLD NEW ENGLAND.

Rev. J. J. Lewis will deliver his celebrated lecture on "Old New England," at the University Church tonight, April 16. This lecture is one of the best in the history of the church, and is one of the most interesting and instructive lectures ever given in this city.

An Automatic Wheel Guard.

To the Editor of The Evening Star:
I read the several communications in The Star of Thursday evening discussing the cruel accident on the Metropolitan street railway which resulted in the death of little Clarence May. Those communications show conclusively that any attachment of the kind to be certain in action and effective in its results should be absolutely automatic. It is too much to expect of any motor man, in an emergency involving a limb within a few seconds, to turn off his current, stop his brake, ring a bell and draw the car to a halt before the victim. This is too much to expect of the average man in an instant's time, each in turn.

It that car had been equipped with an automatic wheel guard the child would have been saved, even if the motor man had been sound asleep, and the child would have been saved.

It is not too much to expect of the average man in an instant's time, each in turn, to be able to stop the car in an emergency involving a limb within a few seconds, to turn off his current, stop his brake, ring a bell and draw the car to a halt before the victim. This is too much to expect of the average man in an instant's time, each in turn.

The wheel guard above referred to as having been so successfully tried on the Avenue line is absolutely automatic in its action, simple in construction and comparatively little expense to the company. It is the firm belief of those who know of it that it is practically impossible for a person, child or adult, who goes under the wheel to be hurt.

Auditor to Papal Delegation.

Mr. Martinelli, apostolic delegate to the United States, has received official information from Rome announcing that Mr. Francesco Marchetti has been appointed auditor to the delegation. Mr. Marchetti is a young Italian priest, and is well known as a doctor of theology. It is stated that he has never been in America, and does not speak the English language. Dr. Marchetti will sail from Naples on April 27, and will come immediately to Washington on his arrival in America.

Narrowly Escaped Injury.

Mr. Almsworth R. Spofford, assistant librarian of Congress, and two ladies had a narrow escape from injury yesterday afternoon. They were out driving and when in the vicinity of Holy Rock cemetery the horse became frightened and began to run at full speed. Mr. Spofford succeeded in slowing up the frightened animal, and as he did so the two ladies leaped from the carriage and were unhurt. Mr. Spofford regained control of the horse. The carriage was badly damaged.

Divorce Granted.

A decree has been signed by Justice Barnard granting Nellie F. V. Purcell a divorce from Michael A. Purcell. Credit treatment was granted on the part of the latter who was alleged.

RESIDENCE ROBBED.

Mrs. Emma Exel, No. 1230 Massachusetts avenue northwest, last night, in the absence of the family, and carried off about $700 worth of jewelry.

Second-story burglars visited the home of Mrs. Emma Exel, No. 1230 Massachusetts avenue northwest, last night, in the absence of the family, and carried off about $700 worth of jewelry.

Mrs. Exel spent the evening at the home of a friend, and about 10 o'clock returned home with her two children and maid and frightened off the burglars. One of the thieves was in the kitchen when she entered the house, and it is supposed his accomplice was on the second floor. Mrs. Exel summoned Policeman Davis of the second precinct, who was on duty in the vicinity, and had him look through the house with her.

An investigation disclosed that the rooms in the upper part of the house had been ransacked and various articles of jewelry had been stolen. The thieves took a diamond ring, $75; a ring with pearl setting, $15; an old-fashioned gold watch, $100; small silver watch, $7; garnet ring, $10; several lace pins, $10; and a ring with pearl and blue setting, $15.

When Mrs. Exel reached home she started the kitchen to get a match, as she had neglected to light the gas. Just as she reached the kitchen door she saw the form of a man apparently coming out of a closet. She lighted the gas and the man fled. She followed him to the kitchen and saw him running away. She followed him to the kitchen and saw him running away.

The police of the second precinct included a diamond ring, $75; a ring with pearl setting, $15; an old-fashioned gold watch, $100; small silver watch, $7; garnet ring, $10; several lace pins, $10; and a ring with pearl and blue setting, $15.

PROBABLY FATAL INJURY.

ALOYSIUS JOHNSON AT HOSPITAL IN DYING CONDITION.

Received Murderer Blow While at Cabin John Bridge Last Night—Assaultant Unknown.

Aloysius Johnson, a plumber, living at 112 F street northwest, was brought to Georgetown last evening in a car on the Great Falls electric railroad from Cabin John bridge in a critical condition. The car was met at 36th street and Prospect avenue by the Georgetown patrol wagon and the injured man was removed to the Georgetown University Hospital.

According to the hospital report, the amputation of his injury revealed a fracture of the skull at the base of the brain, the injury being so serious that the man is not expected to recover. This morning he is still alive, but his recovery is hardly anticipated.

From what could be learned of the matter, Johnson, with several friends, was at Cabin John bridge yesterday evening, and it is said that shortly after 10 o'clock he left his companions and went alone to the bridge. He had been absent a short time and found him lying on the ground, his head injured and blood on his forehead. He was picked up and placed on the platform of a car and brought to Georgetown, as stated. An ambulance was telephoned and waited at the junction for some time, but the car did not come. When it was expected, it was driven away and the patrol wagon met the car. Just how the man was injured is not known, but the indications are that he was struck by a heavy instrument, possibly a blackjack or a loaded cane. It is also possible that he was knocked down and that the injury resulted from the fall to the ground.

Statements of Witnesses.
James A. Green of 1309 L street was one of those with Johnson. According to Green's story, the two went to board a car, but finding it to be an open one, Johnson determined to wait for a closed conveyance. While waiting Johnson lost Green, stating he would be back in a moment, and it was while he was away that the injury was inflicted. Green claims that the first information he received of the accident was after Johnson had been taken to the hospital. He followed Johnson to the hospital, where he saw the man who was injured, and who turned out to be his companion.

Bird Sloan, an acquaintance of the injured man, who was at the bridge, was when Johnson was taken to the hospital. He saw Johnson being taken to the hospital, and he saw Johnson being taken to the hospital.

Statements of Witnesses.
James A. Green of 1309 L street was one of those with Johnson. According to Green's story, the two went to board a car, but finding it to be an open one, Johnson determined to wait for a closed conveyance. While waiting Johnson lost Green, stating he would be back in a moment, and it was while he was away that the injury was inflicted. Green claims that the first information he received of the accident was after Johnson had been taken to the hospital. He followed Johnson to the hospital, where he saw the man who was injured, and who turned out to be his companion.

Bird Sloan, an acquaintance of the injured man, who was at the bridge, was when Johnson was taken to the hospital. He saw Johnson being taken to the hospital, and he saw Johnson being taken to the hospital.

Johnson was taken to the hospital in a car on the Great Falls electric railroad from Cabin John bridge in a critical condition. The car was met at 36th street and Prospect avenue by the Georgetown patrol wagon and the injured man was removed to the Georgetown University Hospital.
